AT a special meeting of the Board of property in Lancaster, June 24, 1799.

Present,

Daniel Brodhead, Sec. Gen.
John Hall, Secretary,
Francis Johnston, Reg. Gen. } of the Land office.

The petition of Thomas Stewardson on behalf of himself and the other trustees for the estate of Samuel Caldwell, surviving partner of James Meese, bearing date Philadelphia, 5th Month 15th 1999, stated as follows, viz. That a certain John Collins had in consequence of fraudulent deeds poll, obtained patents for two certain tracts of land, one situate in the county of Northumberland, surveyed to Samuel Caldwell in pursuance of a warrant dated in 1774; and the other situate now in Luzerne county, surveyed to said Caldwell by a warrant also dated in 1774—and requested that patents might be granted, for the said tracts, to William Crammond, Edward Tilghman, John Ashley, and Thomas Stewardson, trustees of the estate of Samuel Caldwell, surviving partner of James Meese, as the said two tracts were part of the estate of Meese and Caldwell.

Whereupon the Board having considered the same, ordered that at least sixty days notice be given in one of the Philadelphia newspapers, and in the Lancaster Journal to the said Collins or his assigns, to appear before the Board on the first Monday in October next, to shew cause if any he or they have, why patents should not issue for the said two tracts to the said trustees agreeably to the prayer of the said petition.

VIA SALEM.

VIENNA, May 8.

When General Melas was about to enter Milan, he was met by the Archbishop and Magistrates, who delivered to him the keys of the city. The liveliest joy exhilirated the people.—The incessant shouts of "Long live Religion! Long live Francis II. who restores her to us;" exceeded the sound of martial music, even audible in the bustle of action. At night the whole city was illuminated.

The Austrian loss on the Adda was 6 officers, 246 men, and 105 horses killed—21 officers, 786 men, and 150 horses wounded —308 men and 28 horses missing.

[Here follow the names of the Officers.]

Suwarrow is now marching the flower of his army against Turin.

Capture of Pizighetone, &c.

May 18.

This town has been taken by General Keim. He took therein 30 officers, 600 men, 95 pieces of cannon, and an abundance of stores.

At Arona we found 17 pieces of cannon, 5000 cartridges, &c.—At Milan, 23,000 muskquets.

The citadel of Tortona has been taken by assault.—Ivrea by capitulation.—Olegio is also in our possession; 2000 prisoners, and 120 pieces of cannon, are among the fruits of this capture.

Two thousand troops have been landed by the English, at Salerno, who have joined Cardinal Ruffo's army.—Between 7 and 8000 have been landed on the opposite coast. The French have left Naples; and the King is preparing to return. The Archbishop of Otranto, with several thousand Republicans, have fallen into the Cardinal's hands.—The Cardinal has an army of 20,000 men; is advancing from Calabria; and blocks Gaeta on the land side.

We learn, from Constantinople, that thirty thousand Janissaries are marching for Syria. The clergy, &c. have made the Grand Signior presents of 25,000,000 piasters.—A squadron of 5 ships of war, and 15 gun boats are to sail to join Sir Sidney Smith, in Egypt.

May 20.

The citadel of Messina is garrisoned by the English.—Commodore Trowbridge possesses all the islands in Naples bay.

FRONTIERS OF ITALY.

MAY 13.

Gen. Moreau has taken a new position on the river Tessino—Its right the Appenines—its left the Italian bailliwicks of Switzerland. This position extends upwards of 30 leagues. His skill to defend his flanks will be in requisition.

VERONA, May 10.

Since the last 1st. 9000 French prisoners have passed this city.

Fourteen thousand Russians, and 8000 Turks, are said to be landed in the Neapolitan territory.

MAY 13.

The Austrian Head-quarters are at Novi. —TURIN, WITH ITS CITADEL IS NOW IN OUR POSSESSION. The combined Russian and English (we think it should say Turkish) fleets of 130 sail, have landed at Genoa, and the harbour, and the city have surrendered;—and 8000 of Angereau's army taken near the city. A Roveredo account, of May 16, confirms the account of the capture of a considerable French corps near Genoa.—They were conscripts just arrived from Toulon.

MAY 16.

General Kray has summoned Mantua. The French Commander refuses to surrender, alledging his ability to defend himself, and his confidence of relief.

ROVEREDO, May 16.

It is reported, that Cardinal Ruffo, has entered Naples—from which the French have retired.

On, and near, the Rhine.

SWITZERLAND.

Basle, May 8.

Between 3 and 4000 French troops passed the Rhine here, to penetrate it is said, near the Black Forest.

GERMANY.

Upper Rhine, May 10.

Skirmishes daily take place between the Austrians and French, near Kehl.

STOCKACK, May 16.

Yesterday the Archduke Charles informed the army that Gen. Hotze, after taking Lucienstieg, Chur, and the important passes of Sargans, Sagatz, Vettus and Kunkel, and took on that occasion 1000 prisoners, 1 standard, and 7 pieces of cannon, had also occupied the whole of the Grison country. To this very day the Archduke's army has not passed the Rhine, but its position is such, that it can be done every hour.

May 12.

A corps of the Imperial army in Italy has already been dispatched to support the Archduke's plans against the French in Switzerland and the Grison country.

SWABIA, May 10,

The army of the Prince of Conde, which is to march through Gallicia and Silesia, is to suspend its march until the Russian columns shall have passed beyond Lemberg.

The day before yesterday the Russian General, Count Tolstoi, passed through Augsburg, to the head-quarters of the Archduke Charles, at Stockach, to regulate the march of a Russian army, which is to be stationed on the Rhine.

There are authentic advices that the convention is already signed, by virtue of which 45,000 Russian troops, now on their march to Germany, are to be taken in British pay. They will act in separate corps with the Austrians, wherever circumstances may require. The common interest of the allied powers will direct these troops to those parts where their presence will be most wanted. Thus 77,000 Russians are already in motion to the assistance of Austria, and their number will always be kept complete, or in case of necessity, will even be augmented.

VIENNA, April 27.

The Grand Signior will set out immediately from Constantinople to Syria, in order to command in person the army against Buonaparte.

By this Day's Mail.

Very Important News

May hourly be expected. We were yesterday favored, by an attentive friend from Cape Ann, with the under communications, which were brought to Cape Ann, in the schooner Jack, capt. Stacy, arrived on Thursday, in 42 days from Figuera, in Portugal.

"Lisbon, (Sunday evening) 2d June, 1799.

"Messr. Richards, Hitchcock, Baker, & Co.

"Dear Sirs,

"By the aleance (we suppose mail) of this day, they say, the Spanish fleet put into Carthagena, and the French ran into Toulon; that the king of Naples, was in Calabria, collecting an army to drive the French out of his kingdom; and that the Austrians were in or near Genoa: and yet we have this instant an express from our friend, Gen. Connel, dated Faro, May 30th, half past two in the morning, saying, that from Cape St. Vincent, were seen on the 28th ult. sixteen ships of the line; and that between nine and ten o'clock, in the morning, an action was begun and continued; when the news was sent off to Faro; but from the distance and fog, they could not distinguish completely at the Cape.—What fleets can they be?

Yours, &c.

(Signed)

EVANS, OFFLEY & SEALY.

Extract of a letter from Mr. Leigh.

"LISBON, JUNE 1, '99.

"The Cadiz fleet is said to be put into Carthagena, with damage;—and the French fleet to have anchored in a bay of Majorca, with Earl St. Vincents near at hand. Their force I believe is pretty nearly equal.

"Here are accounts of an action between the Imperial armies and the French, in which the latter were totally defeated with the loss of 14,000. The Russians gave no quarter."

Accounts from the Mediterranean are contradictory.—The probability, on an average of the reports, is, That the Spanish fleet, and not the French, have put into Carthagena, having experienced much damage from a strong Levanter. The French fleet has pushed further up;—and Minorca we conjecture is one of the inferior objects of the expedition, as Malta was that of Buonaparte's.

The confederate Imperial armies improve every moment. The latest accounts via Hamburg, bring their van to Turin—their left to Genoa, and their right to the borders of Switzerland. This line effectually cuts off all communication between Moreau's army, and the French "Conquerors of Rome and Naples." These latter are threatened by a strong army from Calabria, disciplined by English officers.

Our Lisbon accounts prove, we think, that the Spanish, and not the French fleet, has put into Carthagena—If either has, the object of the combination is frustrated.

A Paris paper of May 7, says, "The new American Envoys may be daily expected at Paris."! ☞ A good thing this!

NEW-YORK, July 24.

FROM THE HAVANNA.

The brig Intrepid, owned by M. de Butts of Baltimore, who was on board, arrived on the 19th inst. at Baltimore from the Havanna, having been instantly ordered away by the Spanish Governor, without permission to go on shore. This is in consequence of the late edict of the King of Spain, prohibiting a trade with neutrals.

There was an embargo at the Havanna on the 16th of this month, on all vessels in that port, the time M. de Butts sailed.

At a Circuit Court, held in Kingston, for the county of Ulster, before the Hon Judge Kent, Isaiah M'Donald, was convicted of forgery, and received sentence of imprisonment for life in the state prison.

MONTEGO-BAY, June 15.

The Augustus Cæsar left Portsmouth 24th of April, in company with a fleet of 100 sail, for the West-Indies, Africa, and America, convoyed by the Quebec, frigate, Capt. It is also to be observed, that altho' the American vessels lay outside, they carefully rowed past them and selected the Spaniards.

PHILADELPHIA,

THURSDAY EVENING, JULY 25.

A pedant of Salamanca, Don Francisco de Cadetto, lately opened his Dispensatory of Medicinal Balms at the capital of New-England. The sagacious Bostonians soon found reason to suspect that Don Francisco had been more experienced in the heeling than the healing art, and the Doctor left them.

The Neapolitan Republic, is, it seems, no more; thus another indistinguishable ephemeron has passed into the vale of shadows, and republicanism, in future, will assimilate with it, in the mind of a Neapolitan, no other ideas but murder and rapine. Some eighty or ninety years hence, two grave old counsellors with crimson velvet caps, (not caps of liberty) hearing in the streets of Naples, news of some bloody and ferocious insurrection in a distant and barbarous land, will call to mind the days of Gallic devastation, and one will say to the other—"the cruelty of these savages, brother, is exceeding great—the world hath not known any thing like it for many a long day." "Ay," says the other, "since the bloody French revolutionists, now long since wiped from the face of the earth, we have seen nothing like it."

With great pleasure I have heard the pieces signed "the Lay Preacher of Pennsylvania," approved of and applauded, by gentlemen whose knowledge, judgment and taste, entitle their opinions to high regard.

The ten Austrian companies supposed by some accounts, to have fallen into the hands of the panic-stricken Sansculottes, it now appears by later dates are safe in a strong hold, breathing defiance to those regicides and assassins, and only waiting a reinforcement of provisions, to speak daggers to the bloody foe. As the Austrians have met with no loss so considerable as this, since the opening of the campaign, it is the more pleasing to ascertain it to be unfounded. That brutal furor which poured droves upon droves of the wretched raggamuffins of the Revolution upon the scanty ranks of their enemies, has now wholly evaporated, and it will in future be as strange a sight to them to behold ten Austrian companies prisoners, as to see one English man of war brought into their harbours.

The French Republic, as the gentle Barras tells us, is going to defend at last even the cause of humanity: but alas the weapon wherewithal her defence is to be atchieved, is the same whereby she has been exterminated from France. Vengeance, vengeance, bloody Revenge, is the mean by which humanity is to be rescued and defended.

"'Tis thus they cause a compromise
"'Twixt wrangling contrarieties;
"As Irish logic never fails
"To gear draught horses by their tails."

The following passage, or one better expressed, may be found in the page of some future chronologist:

"1800. The centurial year—Final Downfal of the French Republic—Regicides punished—Europe restored to order—Universal Peace."

Buonaparte has told us that the French are good Mussulmen. If so, why should they whine at the death of two men, when they must believe that "God from all eternity decreed" that they should perish at that time and place.

Fifteen of the council of youngsters rose at once to bellow out the sanguinary iteration, Vengeance; like fifteen Asses running to the road side, to bray at a steed passing by. But they need not be in a hury for vengeance; there will be enough of it amongst them, very soon.

Paris, long the Paridise, has now completely become the Pandæmonium, of Fools, Goaded by a million of deadly impulses, they rise up in the agonies of despair, crying Vengeance, vengeance, let us execute vengeance. Like one who when life was at its last ebb, desired to be mounted on his horse to give the enemy another charge! but expired in the attempt.

A calculation on the probable durability of a new republic, in these enlightened times, must be somewhat analogous to that made by the Marquis de Condorcet, soon after the murder of his royal master. This sansculottish Marquis calculated the probable term of a poor citizen's life at six months. Now, your Republic hath been known to last not so long.

In evidence of the advancement of literature in America, the Editor of a periodical work in New-York has discovered Homer to be a blockhead, and the admiration excited by his works in every age, to be an evidence of the stupidity of mankind. One Maro, a Poet of Mantua, had the preposterous folly to scribble an imitation of his nonsensical rhapsody; and is set down for a still greater Ass than his original. Dryden and Pope are not touched upon by this sagacious being; but Southey's Joan of Arc is mentioned with applause. Risum teneatis?

Dr. Francis J. Smith, the Northampton Demosthenes, who admires M'Kean for hanging the Quawkers, has sent his speech to Tench Coxe, requesting the old Tory, (as he, Smith, is not very imminent, in distinguishing political inquiry from sedition) to prune it of its seditious expressions, and publish it in the Aurora. This the old Tory appears to have done, as the speech has been in the hands of Bache, and being either too long or too nonsensical even for his stupid meridian, was refused a place.

PATENT OILS.

AFTER long and tedious trials, the subscriber has at length brought forward a process and obtained a patent for the purifying of Sea Elephant and Spermaceti Oil.

The right in said Patent is vested in the subscriber, Richard Robotham, of Hudson, Jared Coffin, Esq. also of Hudson, and Major John Stephens, of Washington, state of Massachusetts, to either of whom applications on the subject may be made.

This we presume is the greatest discovery of this kind that has ever been made, for or it has been certified by the best judges in the United States, to better the light fifty per cent. and give little or no smoke;—therefore it is recommended to persons concerned in the Sea Elephant and Spermaceti fishery to come forward and promote this excellent discovery, as the best and easiest mode of putting it in execution, is to begin the process on the fishing ground. They that have rancid oil of Sea Elephant and Spermaceti on hand, may by applying to the subscriber be put in a way to purify the same,

Richard Robotham.
